Department of Political Science

The Constitution Day Lecture

(9th November 2023)

Venue: Sarvepalli 'Radhakrishnan College Auditorium

The Department of Political Science, Christ Church College Kanpur, organized a special lecture on "Indian Constitution: Expectations vis-à-vis Practices" as a prelude to India's Constitution Day on 26th November.

The program started with welcoming the guests and setting the tone of the lecture by the convener, Vibha Dikshit. The Chief guest, Prof. Joseph Daniel, Principal and secretary of Christ Church College, shared insightful observations about the role and relevance of the constitution to leading a life with dignity. He emphasized the struggles and contributions of the lawmakers in upholding the value and sanctity of the Indian constitution. He formally welcomed the guest speaker and stressed the need for such enlightening lectures for students. Such talks instil awareness and interest in the young minds to nurture respect and dedication for their nation.

The key guest speaker, Prof. AB Jaiswal of the Law Department of VSSD College, delivered an illuminating lecture from a lawmakers' perspective. He informed about the uniqueness, dynamism, and adaptability of the Indian constitution for the last 75 years. He went into depth in explaining the complicated legal considerations and the function of law in bridging the gap between constitutional aspirations and real-world realities.

Prof. Ashutosh Saxena, the head of Political Science, chaired the session and expressed that the constitution is not simply a codebook to run the government but needs proper interpretation, adoption, adaptation, and execution by all the four pillars of democracy. The need is to adopt the core philosophical values in the functioning and decision-making of any constitutional government. He invited everyone to actively participate in debates and explore solutions that reconcile our constitutional objectives with real-world experiences.

The coordinator, Prof. Vibha Dikshit asked everyone to commit to understanding the role of the constitution in bridging the gap between constitutional aspirations and actual reality. The event aimed to stimulate intellectual curiosity and foster a greater understanding of the Indian legal and political landscape. The event was well attended by the students of all other disciplines besides the students of Political Science Department. The faculty from other disciplines too attended this lecture and participated in good number.

The organizing team comprised Hina Azmat, Archana Verma, Sakshi, Ishita, Vivek and Amit. The college faculty and students interacted with the resource persons with great interest, and the event was a huge success.
